A message from Rev Peter

Make me a channel of your peace.
Where there is hatred let me bring your love.
Where there is injury, your pardon, Lord
And where there's doubt, true faith in you.

Make me a channel of your peace
Where there's despair in life, let me bring hope
Where there is darkness, only light
And where there's sadness, ever joy.

November brings a season of personal and civic remembrance, reflection and focussed prayers for peace in our world.

You will know the restful hymn 'Make me a channel of your peace'. What does it mean for us to be a channel of God's peace?

The word 'channel' has a number of meanings.
In nature, a channel can refer to a navigable waterway, providing a safe passage for vessels.
The deeper and wider a channel, the safer it is for passage.
Likewise, the channel of God's peace should run deep and wide in our hearts.
Consequently, where others cross our paths, we have enough room to navigate our relationships safely and without harm.

In broadcasting and media, a channel is a means of communication.
Likewise, being a channel of God's peace means that our lives transmit messages of peace and harmony to others.
We do this when we are tuned in to the God of peace.

Finally, the word channel is also a verb. We channel our energies.
Likewise, as Christians, our lives are channelled towards peace-making and reconciliation.
This is active and involves the devotion of our whole life and thought and energy to the task of making peace.

May God our Maker continue to make us channels of peace today.

Lord, we pray for peace for those who weep in silence,
peace for those who cannot speak,
peace when all hope seems to disappear.
In the midst of rage, of violence and disappointment,
In the midst of wars and destruction of the earth,
Lord, show us your light in the darkness.

Lord, we pray for peace when there are many who do not wish to hear of it. Keep your church free, that it may be the channel through which justice and peace, integrity and wholeness, harmony and goodwill may flow to the dispossessed and the desperate, that your kingdom may come in all its fulfilment of life and health and peace, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Looking ahead
